

Notre Histoire 2 Pacing Guide

In Notre histoire 2, you will find culturally-relevant and heartfelt stories to encourage your students to reflect on their own lives and think about the world around them. This curriculum is ideal for high school students continuing their exposure to the French language. Each unit features four short stories and two longer stories carefully written to introduce both high-frequency and high-interest structures. We have included stories that highlight some of the most compelling and beautiful aspects of the francophone world while instilling valuable insight into the practices and perspectives of target cultures. Our hope is that each story will not only teach students the language, but also provide you as the teacher a springboard for some interesting conversations in class.

Each story includes varying levels of comprehension activities that provide repeated exposure to targeted structures in novel ways. Each activity is designed to prompt students to think critically about the text and demonstrate their comprehension through various modes of communication. Teacher tips for presenting target structures, such as Total Physical Response (TPR®) methods, Personalized Questions and Answers (PQAs), and Storyasking, are provided to support teachers who are new to the best practices of teaching with comprehensible input.

To give your students an even deeper CI experience, Notre histoire 2 comes equipped with abundant supplemental resources. Explore the richness of the francophone world with interviews, articles, videos, and panoramas in the Encore ! Encore ! section. Enjoy interesting, relevant cultural context with Découverte culturelle and extensive, compelling content with the ongoing story, Le voyage d'une vie. With Notre histoire, the possibilities for impactful comprehensible input are as limitless as your imagination!

Profiles

In this guide, you will find four options for pacing the material of Notre histoire 2. Because of Notre histoire's convenient structure that permeates all units, you can apply one of these basic frameworks to all units within the title. This pacing is meant to be an example of what a teacher could do, not an example of what a teacher should do. Just choose the profile that best fits your teaching situation and dive in!

- Rock Skipper: This is the teacher who regularly dips into Notre histoire but also uses other instructional materials and/or has limited time with their students. The Rock Skipper teacher will focus primarily on the Petites histoires with a quick Longue histoire thrown in as an assessment and a video or Encore ! Encore ! activity for novelty.
- Surface Skimmer: A Surface Skimmer teacher uses Notre histoire as the backbone of their curriculum but also supplements frequently with external instructional materials and/or takes a slow approach to language acquisition. This teacher will focus primarily on the Petites histoires and Longues histoires with carefully-selected videos and cultural lessons to further students' experience with comprehensible input.

Notre Histoire 2 Pacing Guide

- Knee Deep: When going Knee Deep, a teacher uses Notre histoire as the primary curriculum. This teacher selects the most engaging and relevant of the copious supplemental resources available in Notre histoire and schedules them frequently into lesson plans to vary course routines and give students a rich cultural understanding.
- Deep Diver: For the Deep Diver, Notre histoire is a treasure trove of instructional materials. In a Deep Dive, Notre histoire serves as the exclusive curriculum. Because students have both the time and the proficiency level, the Deep Diver incorporates as many resources as possible within every unit.

Flexibility

As you look over this pacing guide, keep in mind that our pacing and timing for these tasks is approximate and may need to be adapted for different contexts. Of course, you should be prepared to adapt your instruction to spend more time on topics that your students really connect with and move on more quickly when your students' interest is low. Remember that the main goal is to provide compelling, comprehensible input. If you are talking with your students—about a story, a culture, or their personal lives—and your students are engaged, then they are acquiring language! A successful CI program shouldn't fit into neat boxes, so don't let an ideal schedule prevent you from exploring further.

Take some time to discover what might best suit your students' needs. Take advantage of the plentiful resources at your fingertips, or use the Voces Editor to create activities of your own. Again, the goal of Comprehensible Input is to engage and connect with your students in such a way that they acquire language subconsciously. As long as they are engaged and you are delivering comprehensible input, do not worry too much about how fast or slow you're moving in the curriculum. Ultimately, Notre histoire 2 is meant to be a responsive, student-driven curriculum.
